DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 17 April 2002 have been fully considered but are not persuasive.

Regarding the 102 rejection.

The icons/displays of Ferguson et al ('092), see figure 7 and 8 which refer to the screens of figures 15 and 16 are seen to be indicia coding/pictorial representation of the components of the system claimed. The management of the components is performed through the manipulations of the document's appearance of figure 3a.

2. Regarding the 103 rejection.

In response to applicant's argument that Blower Jr. et al ('952) is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Blower Jr. et al is relied on for the display of the known technology of texture shading on a computer report. Though the application of the computer is different, the report shading is a computer feature not molecular biology issue.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Art Unit: 3629

3. Claims 1-9, 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

As per Claims 1-9.

Though the claim recites a method of displaying, presenting, conveying and presenting again, there is no technological apparatus which is manipulated to perform the steps and not in the technological arts, it is therefore non-statutory.

As per Claim 19.

Though the claim recites a system, only logic appears in the body of the claim, there is no technological "means" to perform the logic and not in the technological arts, it is therefore non-statutory.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

4. Claim 1-6, 8, 10-15, 17, 19 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ferguson et al (5,819,092).

As per Claim 1.

b) presenting information related to building the components of the existing system by indicia coding the components on the pictorial representation, see figure 3a (315,320,330);

c) conveying information relating to managing the components of the existing system by indicia coding the components on the pictorial representation, see figure 3a (317);

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 7,9,16,18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferguson et al (5,819,092) in view of Blower, Jr et al (6,323,952).

As per Claim 7.

Ferguson et al ('092) discloses all the limitations of claim 1.

Ferguson et al ('092) does not disclose:

wherein the indicia coding is selected from the group including texture coding, color coding and shading coding.

Blower, Jr et al ('952) teaches displaying texture, color or shading coding, see figure 2, for the benefit of distinguishing subsets of data in a summary histogram.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made to modify the invention of Ferguson et al ('092) to display texture, color or shading coding as taught by Blower, Jr et al ('952), see figure 2, for the benefit of distinguishing subsets of data in a summary histogram.

As per Claim 9.

Ferguson et al ('092) discloses all the limitations of claim 1.

Ferguson et al ('092) does not disclose:

a legend is presented.

Blower, Jr et al ('952) teaches displaying a legend, see figure 2, for the benefit of distinguishing subsets of data in a summary histogram.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made to modify the invention of Ferguson et al ('092) to display a legend as taught by Blower, Jr et al ('952), see figure 2, for the benefit of distinguishing subsets of data in a summary histogram.

As per Claim 16.
